Motion:

Admission to the Engineering Management Masters Program should be suspended until Fall 2006.

Rationale:

In spite of major recruiting efforts, the program was unable to enroll adequate number of students for the third cohort with a starting date of January 2005. Many employers/sponsors pointed out the current state of economy as a primary reason for being unable to sponsor their employees for this program. CEAS and SBA would prefer to suspend admission into this program for two years. CEAS and SBA will re-evaluate the market conditions and program appropriateness over this time period and make decisions as to continue the program without change, offer the program with modifications, or eliminate the program.
